DEWEY CALLS FOR HELP OF
GOP LEADERSREPUBLICANS ASKED TO SHARE PARTY
DRIVER'S SEAT

BY JACK BELL

Chicago, June 29 (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey invited Republicans everywhere today to share the driver's seat with him for the presidential campaign, pledging "joint decisions" with Gov. John W. Bricker and welcoming any advice from Wendell L. Willkie.

At what he called "the world's biggest news conference," the GOP nominee endorsed his party's platform as "representing my views," declined to join in cabinet speculation, defined his foreign policy stand and welcomed "the support of every good American in the United States."

Works With Bricker

Then he went to work putting into effect what has emerged as a set policy of drawing the entire Republican organization into the inner councils of the campaign. He began conferences with national committee members, state chairmen and other party leaders, including former president Herbert Hoover.

His day began with a breakfast conference with Governor Bricker, his running mate. Dewey said Bricker would share in all of the campaign plans and would make with him all the decisions on major policy matters.

Bricker went home to Columbus for a civic celebration there tonight and Dewey planned to consult him by telephone, particularly over the question of filling the national committee chairmanship. The committee delegated six of its members to consult Dewey on this question.

Conference Draws 500

There have been reports that the present chairman, Harrison E. Spangler, would be placed in charge of the western campaign, with Herbert Brownell, Jr., directing the national show.

Ten minutes late to his first news conference since he became the nominee, Dewey walked into a Steven's hotel ballroom where more than 500 persons, including some curious spectators, had gathered. The grinning governor, dressed in a light gray suit and appearing fresh despite a hand-shaking marathon that lasted well after midnight, posed politely for photographers. He confessed that the size of the gathering left him "astounded."

Sitting on a table and puffing at a cigarette in a six-inch holder, Dewey covered a wide range of issues as reporters popped questions at him from every angle. Those in the rear of the crowded ballroom stood on chairs to see him better.

Declaring that the GOP platform "represents my views," the nominee said it was longer than he had desired, represented some compromises but was produced by "an unhushed convention."

Willkie To Be Consulted

He laid emphasis on Bricker's part in the campaign and said he wanted to talk to every member of the national committee and every state chairman.

"Will Willkie be invited to take part in your strategy conferences?" He was asked.

"So far we have consulted only with members of the national committee, but later there will be consultations with others," Dewey said.

"Does that include Willkie?" a reporter insisted.

"Certainly," was the answer. In

Years Of War Wipe Out
Cream Of German Youth

BY DON WHITEHEAD

With The American Army In France, June 29 (AP)—Five years of war have wiped out the cream of German youth and now there is "a missing generation" in Germany—those youths of 20 to 28 years who form the backbone of any great fighting force.

This statement came today from an American officer who has watched more than 37,000 enemy troops pass through the prisoner cages since the Doughboys stormed the beachhead of Normandy 23 days ago.

And he asserted there is only one conclusion to be reached from the prisoners taken—the cream of Germany's armies is gone, slaughtered or captured in the abortive campaigns in Russia, killed in the hot sands of the western desert, or lost in North Africa, Sicily and Italy.

Most of the prisoners either are very young, many of them 18 to 20, or they are well past 30 years. The oldest prisoner was 69.

The officer's observation was made as the Doughboys were driving the last of the peninsula defenders onto the very northwestern tip of Gap de la Hague.

There was an estimated 3,000 Germans left in the pocket with only one avenue of escape—and that by sea at night when the Allied air force is unable to observe the movements of small boats.

While the enemy has buried the finest of his soldiers, the American armies still have their youth, and in the opinion of this staff officer that makes the great difference in the armies of Germany and those of the United States. Man for man, he said, the Germans are licked in the quality of troops.

Although the entire American front was relatively quiet, Doughboys were put in the attack in the St. Lo sector to straighten out the lines by capturing enemy-held positions.

In the early morning, dive-bombers roared in to pound strong points and then artillery laid down a heavy barrage in advance of troops signalling the flareup of activity on the southern front.

Although the United States has come near breaking relations with Finland more than once since Pearl Harbor, the sustaining hope that this country's influence could help get the Finns out of the war vanished with the Finnish-German agreement announced two days ago.

American Charge d'Affaires Robert Gullion is still in Helsinki, and there was some speculation that he might be withdrawn to Stockholm before a break actually occurs.

The battles now in progress entail heavy losses in material which American industry must replace, the report said, "and any slackening in the needed production will only delay ultimate victory."

The sombre report, warning against over-optimism on the home front, reached the president from Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of Staff, Adm. Ernest King, and Gen. H. H. Arnold of the air forces, the three United States joint chiefs of staff.

They said that upon their return from the fighting in Normandy they discovered "a state of mind in this country against which we believe the public should be warned."

The report said favorable news from the fighting fronts appears to have started a public feeling that the war is as good as won and declared the prospects of victory will be cut down unless that idea is checked immediately.

The three top men of America's armed forces declared the war "is not yet won; it will be won the sooner if everybody in war work sticks to his job till complete victory has been attained."

The drive is scheduled to continue through July 8.

SOVIETS HEAD FOR MINSK IN
WHITE RUSSIAFALL OF FORTRESS
CITY PREDICTED
IN FEW DAYS

BY RUSSELL LANDSTROM

London, Friday, June 30 (AP)—Shattered by powerful blows from the air and on the ground, German defenses in White Russia were collapsing hourly today in what some Moscow dispatches described as "the greatest defeat in history"—with scores of thousands of Nazi troops either killed or captured and approximately 7,000 populated places liberated in the first week of the Russians' mighty summer offensive.

Operating under waves of Red war planes, the Soviet armies advanced more than 20 miles yesterday on two different fronts in the blazing central battle-zone and closed to within 30 miles of Minsk, the capital of White Russia, which itself was being bombed and burned by the Red air force.

Stronghold Captured

Bobruisk, the fortified German stronghold which the speeding Russian troops had passed two days before, was captured and five trapped German divisions there were liquidated at a cost of 16,000 dead and 18,000 prisoners, Premier Stalin announced.

The main thrusts were down the old Smolensk-Warsaw highway from the northeast, along the Bykhov-Minsk road from almost due east, and up through the Pech river valley along the Gomel-Minsk railroad and highway from the southeast.

On the Smolensk road Red army troops had reached the upper Berezina river north of Borisov, near Studienka, where Napoleon bridged the sluggish stream Nov. 26, 1812, for the escape of the ragged remnants of his grand army. Advanced Russian units today were less than 35 miles northeast of Minsk. The city of Borisov appeared to be as good as taken.

The chateau fell late yesterday after a 12-hour assault by British infantry supported by artillery and Sherman and Churchill tanks.

An elaborate system of underground machine gun nests 12 feet deep and firing trenches hidden in the woods made the citadel most difficult to capture.

As a sidelight illustrating the rigors of war reporting I underwent sharp bombing and shelling attacks to get this story.

Japanese Resistance
Slowly Blotted Out
On Strategic Saipan

BY LEIF ERICKSON

U. S. Pacific Fleet Headquarters, Pearl Harbor, June 29 (AP)—Battling against fierce resistance, American ground forces have made small gains all along the front extending across strategic Saipan Island and have blotted out all Japanese resistance in the southeast corner of Nafutan Point.

A "severe" defense was being put up by the enemy at the mountainous central sector, Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said today in a communique reporting the latest developments of the American ground thrust pointing towards Japan.

Another carrier aircraft strike was made Tuesday against Pagan Island, north of Saipan. A water reservoir, barracks and several small harbor craft were hit, the latter by rocket fire. Returning pilots reported the airfield appeared to have been knocked out. Only one plane was visible on the ground. It seemed to be unusable.

Resistance on Nafutan Point collapsed Tuesday. There an enemy force of several hundred had tried to break out earlier. Their attack was contained, however, and heavy losses inflicted on the Japanese. The entire southern half of the island now is completely in American hands.

Supporting and neutralizing raids meanwhile were carried through Tuesday by the Seventh Army Air Forces. Their targets were Japanese bases in the Caroline and Marshall Islands.

The clash of ground forces at the center of the front may turn into a decisive engagement. American Marines and Infantry fought there to encircle a Japanese stronghold northeast of Mt. Tapochan. That dominating height already had been wrested from the Nipponese.

Enemy resistance was the most stubborn yet encountered on Saipan, said frontline dispatches. The defenders, in honeycombed caves, were using mortars, artillery and small arms in an apparent last-man stand.

It was estimated that 20,000 Japanese were being compressed into the northern peninsula of Saipan. That area is about two miles wide and seven to nine miles long.

Japanese planes continued to harass the Saipan invaders at night. Their sporadic forays, however, were reported as not interfering with the closest American ground approach to Japan.

Fuehrer's Troops
Desert Officers;
White Flag Raised

BY ROGER D. GREENE

On The British Front Outside Of Caen, June 29 (AP)—Two German officers who were captured in a bloody battle for a chateau southeast of Cambes today waved white flags "because our troops ran off and deserted us."

Lt. J. R. Wilson of Cornwall said the Germans "looked like ghosts," their faces white with terror and eyes red rimmed holes from what they described as "three nights and days of hell" when they emerged from a machine gun nest at the chateau.

"We were under orders to fight to the last bullet and the last man but our soldiers broke and ran," the Germans told Wilson. "So we decided to surrender. What was the use of dying alone?"

"We had nothing hot to eat and had been sitting in a hole in the rain under a terrible shelling 72 hours. It was unbearable, even for the fuhrer."

The chateau fell late yesterday after a 12-hour assault by British infantry supported by artillery and Sherman and Churchill tanks.

An elaborate system of underground machine gun nests 12 feet deep and firing trenches hidden in the woods made the citadel most difficult to capture.

BY AUSTIN BEALMEAR

London, June 29 (AP)—Two thousand U. S. warplanes—1,000 heavy bombers and an equal fighter escort—struck deep into Germany today and smashed at seven aircraft factories and a number of other targets while Allied fighters and medium bombers swarmed over the Normandy battle field in searing support of ground troops.

Flak and swarms of German fighters challenged this mighty air fleet and 33 enemy fighters were knocked down by the vigilant escort, while bomber vigilance picked off three more which fought through to the heavens.

Fifteen U. S. heavy bombers and three fighters are missing. Eleven other enemy planes were shot down over Normandy, and four Allied planes were missing in that area.

Another prong of this ceaseless aerial offensive was aimed again at the Pas-de-Calais coast of France against the German flying-bomb installations. As the robot bombs continued to fall on England, RAF heavy bombers swept

DEWEY CALLS FOR HELP OF GOP LEADERS

New York, Willkie had no comment.

On foreign policy, Dewey voiced opposition to an international police force, if that meant, he said, "an army with American soldiers directed by some disembodied spirit as a world agency."

Neither was he in favor of surrendering the "sovereign power to make war," observing that the United States had never fought any but a defensive war. He approved what he interpreted as the platform's declaration for the establishment of a world court.

Praise For SEC

Under questioning by a Negro reporter, he said that if elected he would carry out his oath to enforce the 13th, 14th and 15th amendments to the Constitution. He regarded racial segregation in the military forces as a difficult problem, he said, but observed he thought it could be solved.

Patently answering questions, the nominee said he thought the Securities and Exchange Commission should be retained.

"By and large," he said, "I think the SEC one of the best things the present administration has done. As to its administration, the SEC has not done its best to stimulate the flow of capital."

He would not discuss cabinet possibilities, either from the standpoint of the inclusion of women, the age of possible appointees or whether Democrats might be chosen to head departments if he is elected. The questioning veered to the possible retention of Secretary of State Hull.

"You are asking me to pass on the mental vigor of Mr. Hull," Dewey said. "I will not do that. I am not engaging in cabinet picking at this time."

He ruled out as "hypothetical" a question whether he would accept a third term, if elected to a first and second, but reiterated his 1940 declaration that a third term "is destructive of everything good in the American tradition."

The nominee declared for state regulation of the insurance business, said he was pleased with the foreign trade and anti-fool subsidies planks of the platform, and expressed the opinion that Federal aid would have to be given to bolster reemployment in the post-war period of transition back to civilian production.

Obituary

ADOLPH M. MOE

Final rites for Adolph M. Moe were conducted by Rev. L. R. Lund of Immanuel Lutheran church Thursday afternoon at two o'clock at the Anderson funeral home chapel. The services were very largely attended and beautiful flowers banked the repose room.

The pastor used as his text the 23rd Psalm, "The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want." C. Arthur Anderson sang two hymns, "Does Jesus Care?" and "God Will Take Care of You." Mrs. L. R. Lund was accompanist.

Burial was in the family lot in West Ford River cemetery. Pallbearers, five nephews and a close friend of the family were Kermit, Emil and Fred Johnson, Albin Nelson, Ray Sundstrom and Ernest Martin.

Those attending the funeral, in addition to the many friends and neighbors of the Ford River community, were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tumath, Gladstone; Mr. and Mrs.

fighting for La Bijué 2½ miles north of Caen. Both sides were throwing in more and more armor as the battle rose toward a crescendo.

The Germans were reported to have thrown most of the Fifteenth and Seventeenth armies into the battle of Caen at the eastern end of the Normandy bridgehead.

On the south the British lost momentum as infantry, often fighting hand to hand, turned to clean up the numerous strong-points over-run on this battlefield of hedgerows and fields.

Aerial reconnaissance showed that Von Rundstedt, apparently convinced at last that the invasion of Normandy was the big blow from the west, was moving troops into France from Germany. The RAF attacked Metz last night in a raid intended to disrupt this flow. The rail city is a focal point for German troop movements from the Reich to France.

Approximately 200 German planes, whose bases have been pushed back to at least 100 miles from the front by the ceaseless aerial attacks on their forward positions, were engaged today in air battles that cost them more than one-fifth of their forces.

BROWNS AGAIN YANK VICTIM

Lead Of Pacesetters Cut To Two And One Half Games

New York, June 29 (AP)—St. Louis' Browns choked off two New York Yankee scoring threats in the early innings today but permitted the world champions a single run in the last of the ninth for a 1 to 0 triumph that cut the visitors' league lead to two and a half games.

Walt Dubiel, 24 year old rookie for the Yankees, was found for only two blows while the winners nipped Sig Jakucki for seven and their second straight over the first-place Browns.

Bud Metheny opened the ninth frame with a single and was sacrificed to second by Herschel Martin.

The Browns, on top of the league standings much of the season, now have lost seven of the nine games played with the Yankees.

Score by Innings:
St. Louis — 000 000 000—0 2 0
New York — 000 000 001—1 7 0
Jakucki and F. Mancuso; Dubiel and Hemsley.

MORE PORTS NEEDED

Headquarters, 21st Army Group, June 29 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Cecil Ray Moore, U. S. A., chief engineer of the European theater of operations, who just returned from Cherbourg, told correspondents today that the port, while extremely valuable, was no complete solution of the Allied shipping problems.

Equalization Will Boost Valuation By $1,653,316

It was unofficially reported yesterday that following a two-day meeting of the Delta county tax equalization committee the county's total assessed valuation as equalized has been increased $1,653,316. The equalization committee is scheduled to report to the county board this morning.

The unofficial report yesterday was that the equalization committee increased valuations from $15,821,400 to $17,474,716.

The official figures, together with a complete report on valuations as assessed and valuations as equalized by the committee will be reported to the board of supervisors today.

The meeting of the equalization committee was remarkable for several reasons. It was the first time in many years the committee met for more than a routine check of the assessment rolls as presented by the supervisors and assessors. It was also the first time in the recollection of most of the present supervisors when the committee had made more than minor changes in valuations.

It is the responsibility of the equalization committee to equalize valuations between townships and cities on a basis of cash value of the property assessed.

How the equalization committee arrived at its increases has not yet been revealed, although it was stated unofficially last night that it was on a percentage basis—12 per cent for the townships and 10 per cent for the cities. These percentage increases were added to the valuations as equalized last year.

The extended meeting of the equalization committee was brought about largely by two factors: 1—Insistence of school representatives on the tax allocation board that sufficient revenue be provided to operate the schools; and 2—The advice and information provided the board of supervisors by Prosecutor Torval E. Strom on the legal procedure to be followed in assessing property and equalizing property values.

He is in the Army Air Force and entered the service on May 16. His wife and daughter, Sandra Lee, live in Escanaba at 813 South 17th street.

Arch Plant, F 1/c, of the United States Navy, son of Mrs. A. W. Plant of 914 First Avenue South, is serving with the Amphibious Forces and is stationed at A. T. B., Little Creek, Va. He enlisted in the service last October and was assigned to the Great Lakes Naval Training Station for his boot training. Returning to the Great Lakes following his boot leave, he was transferred to Detroit for training at the Electrical School at the Naval Armory, and then was transferred to the Amphibious forces for further schooling in electrical work at Little Creek. Price On Dressed Fish Is Increased By OPA Regulation

Fish dealers who sell custom dressed fish to restaurants and hotels on a cash-and-carry basis are now permitted to add two cents per pound on such sales over their dressed fish ceilings, the Office of Price Administration has announced.

This action, effective June 26, 1944, was taken because certain hotel and restaurant suppliers custom dress substantial quantities of fish and ship it to their customers by common carrier. The allowance now provided them for custom dressing is the same as is allowed a service-and-delivery wholesaler who does custom dressing.

The measure also adjusts the service-and-delivery allowance for sales to retailers. Primary fish shippers and wholesalers who buy from primary fish shippers, or through a port sale, are now uniformly permitted a service-and-delivery allowance of 1½ cents per pound. Previously, this allowance ranged from 1½ to 2½ cents per pound. The exception formerly provided for sales of filets is eliminated.

In many instances retailers and consumers will benefit from this adjustment by a reduction in the price of fresh fish and seafood, particularly filets, of one cent per pound.

The action also provides that a wholesaler who sells custom dressed fish to a purveyor of meals may now pass on an amount (not exceeding two cents per pound) sufficient to enable him to recover the permitted container allowance he paid to his supplier. Such wholesalers do not ordinarily re-

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"I think so, too, John. Ever get your asparagus patch going?"

"I gave that up last year, Judge. Tried it six years in a row with no luck. Just haven't got the right soil, I guess?"

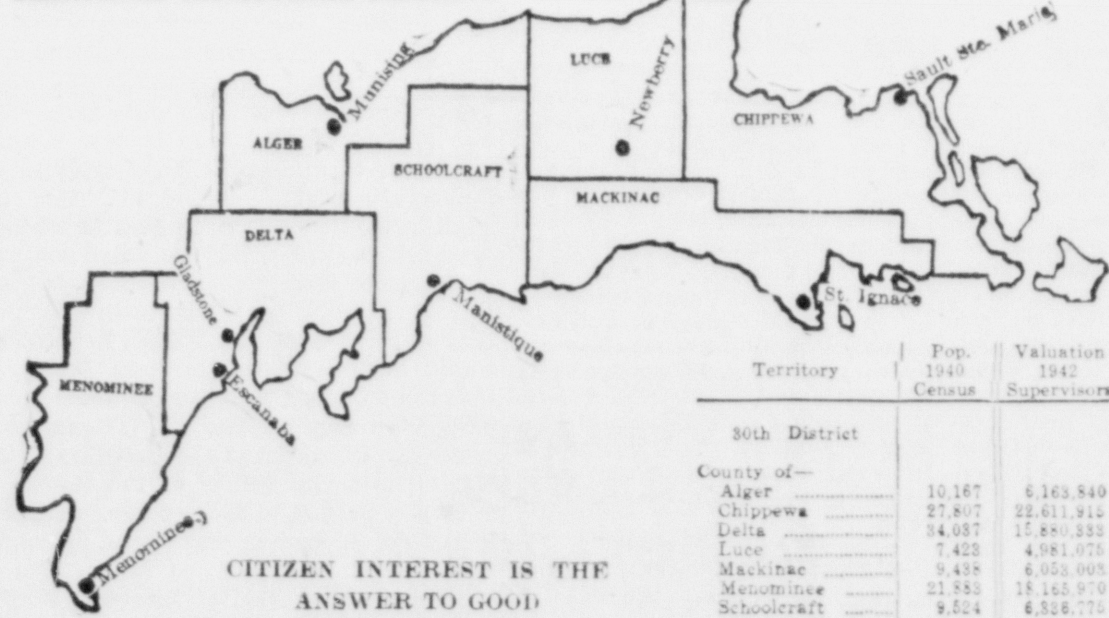

"Well, I think you're wise, John... no use keeping on trying things you know won't work. Just like prohibition. State-wide prohibition has been tried in this country seventy-two times in the last ninety years. It has been adopted forty-seven times in the past thirty-three years and discarded everywhere except in three states. Same thing was tried in eight provinces in Canada and in Norway, Sweden, Finland and Russia but it was an admitted failure and universally abandoned.

"The reason is prohibition does not prohibit. All you get is bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor, plus no end of crime and corruption."

Fighting Dewey

THE acceptance speech of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, before a tumultuously enthusiastic Republican national convention, in Chicago, on Wednesday night, will be generally recognized as both inspiring and sound. It carried the tone of a valiant crusader and the words of a fighting American, who has accepted the nomination of his party for the highest office within the gift of the people, in a campaign to preserve the freedom of American institutions, when victory has finally been won on the battle fronts of the world. As the candidate of his party for the presidency of the nation, Gov. Dewey made it plain it was his conviction that America's first duty is to win the war in the shortest possible time, no matter what the cost and then proceed to make certain a lasting peace for all time to come, with full recognition not only of America's duty to war ravished lands, but the protection of rights and interests of the American people. Governor Dewey's declaration that neither the making of the peace, nor the solution of America's internal problems of government, should remain in the hands of "stubborn men, grown old and tired and quarrelsome in office," was probably the highlights of his discourse, for that statement was coupled with his solemn promise to appoint to his cabinet "the ablest men and women of America," young enough to do, the jobs entrusted to their keeping.

To the surprise of many listeners the Republican nominee displayed to his world audience a radio voice that many considered even rivaling that of the fast aging present occupant of the White House. His message was vibrant with the fighting determination of the nominee to bring an end to dictatorial, bureaucratic government in America, to make certain a future for the people, even more free and brilliant than has been the past.

Next to the convention's nominee for the presidency, Gov. John W. Bricker, of Ohio, made himself the most popular man in America, by his fine display of sportsmanship, in laying aside his own personal ambitions, and accepting the nomination for the vice presidency. The ovation given Gov. Dewey, himself, was no greater than that accorded Gov. Bricker when he announced his acceptance of second place on the party ticket.

A national convention that was afflicted with a serious attack of the doldrums, in its early stages, wound up in blaze of glory.

The Third Degree

DETROIT police must have red faces and less confidence in the efficacy of third degree methods in the solution of crimes after the startling developments in the Raulston murder case.

After the body of a 14-year-old girl was found near a garbage dump, police arrested Richard Vincent, employee at a tourist camp, where the victim had stayed the night previous to the slaying. Vincent later was reported by police to have confessed, but when he went on trial in circuit court this week, he repudiated the confession, charging that the official questioners "put the words in his mouth." The inference was that he was in a state of mental confusion as a result of the browbeating methods used by the police.

Quite likely, a jury would have paid little attention to the youth's story and would have found him guilty. Fortunately, before the jury's verdict was returned, a 20-year-old war plant employee, Robert Miller Turner, suspected by his landlady of the theft of money from other roomers, was found to have the Raulston girl's purse in his suitcase. His arrest followed, and he admitted the murder.

Young Vincent is now free, but he would probably be behind the bars in the Marquette branch prison if the real criminal had not been apprehended by mere chance. Public clamor for the apprehension of those responsible for widely publicized crimes oftentimes in the past has caused law enforcement officers to be overzealous in pinning the blame on someone. There have been many stories about the "railroading" of innocent people, and Detroit almost had such a case this week.

Our Industrial Expansion

THE city of Louisville has an industrial development program that has been functioning and achieving outstanding results for 27 years, an article in a recent issue of Business Week reveals.

When an industry, employing about five hundred persons, ran into financial difficulties, the Louisville Industrial Foundation was organized and made a $100,000 loan to keep the concern going. This was the start of a program that has done much to give Louisville industrial stability.

Organized in July, 1916, there were 2,118 subscribers for $1,924,600 in stock at $100 a share, but the entrance of the United States into the World War brought the subscription down to $875,759.05. There is $103,000 surplus in the treasury now. No dividend ever has been declared, but stockholders—industrial, business and professional leaders of Louisville—seem satisfied with the civic dividends which have accrued to Louisville as a whole.

Since its inception, the foundation has invested $3,837,045 in Louisville industry, including $1,041,010 current financing of seven plants wholly converted to the war effort and seven others producing war materials in varying degrees. The foundation has absorbed $209,021 of losses in 27 years.

The object of the Louisville Industrial Foundation primarily is to preserve existing payrolls, with stress on the protection and expansion of local concerns. But it also helps to finance companies desiring to get started in the city if the product is in universal demand, marketing methods and outlets are all right, and if the management can show a history of success.

Louisville's program is of interest to Escanaba because through the joint efforts of the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce and the City of Escanaba we have carried on an industrial program here that has resulted in bringing four new industries during the past year. The beginning was made when the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce raised more than $40,000 by popular subscription to purchase and remodel the tannery building for occupancy by the Lambert Novelty Mirror Works, which now leases the property from the Chamber. The city administration aided the program by acquiring the former Pontiac garage for the Venus Foundation Garment company and the old CANW railway blacksmith shop for the Solar Furniture company. Both concerns are paying for the rental of the space. A fourth plant, to be occupied by the wood wedge division of the Insulation Manufacturers corporation, will be built at the Birds Eye Veneer company location at no cost to either the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce or the city.

Escanaba's industrial promotion plan does not approach in any way the magnitude of the Louisville Industrial Foundation, but nevertheless it has succeeded in a relatively brief period in landing four new industries, which are expected to expand and employ from 500 to 600 persons within a couple years. It is an achievement which is being watched with much interest by other communities in the Upper Peninsula region.

China's Long Fight

EVERY belligerent has a day of infamy or a day of glory to remember, but among them all one stands out for a special reason. On July 7 China will observe the seventh anniversary of Japan's invasion. No other nation has been involved in the hostilities for so long a period.

No other nation has had to meet such a war-ready adversary with so few of the resources of war. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has had to contend not only with lack of planes and weapons but also with factions among his own people, traditional graft, a runaway inflation, and recurrent famine.

Under these conditions, it is surprising that China has been able to maintain any sort of resistance to the enemy. Indeed, there have been times when collapse seemed inevitable. And as she enters the eighth year of the war, the immediate military situation is blacker than ever.

Japanese divisions from Manchuria have captured Changsha, vital Chinese defense position which had successfully thrown back repeated enemy attacks for three years. Now the Japanese have driven farther south and threaten the junction of the Hankow-Canton and Hunan-Kwangsi railroads. If this point is captured, China will be cut in two like a piece of pie, defense of remaining territory will be weakened and Admiral Nimitz's project of gaining beachheads on the coast will be made more difficult.

And yet, if the present outlook seems dark, the future gives promise of liberation. Vice President Wallace, recently in China, was dishing out typical Wallacian tripe when he predicted in Chungking that China will be free within the eighth year of her war. But if the Chinese did not learn too much about Wallace during his visit, his presence there may not have accomplished any particular harm.

China will be liberated, not by orators like Wallace, but by American fighting men. It is universally regarded as a certainty that the Chinese themselves, if helped militarily, will have the fortitude to hold out no matter what serious defeats befall them.

SOLDIERS OF THE SOIL (Christian Science Monitor)

The 4-H Club camps have already opened, in some States taking groups of rural boys and girls to attractive spots for a week of outdoor vacation that will highlight their whole summer. In New Hampshire, for example, each county in the State is adding a camp, with 4-H youngsters arriving in weekly relays from June 18 through to September 2.

These campers are the boys and girls whose firsthand knowledge of farm life particularly qualifies them to help raise food for freedom. The work they will do is essential to the conduct of the war and to the winning of the peace. They too, are taking and holding important beachheads. We submit that no group of young people more richly deserves to enjoy a camp vacation.

Famous irritating last line: "You don't mind if I step in here ahead of you, do you?"

It isn't surprising that American tourists are more welcome right now than ever before in Cherbourg.

The Round Table

BY RAYMOND MOLEY

Chicago—A lot of pretty silly stuff goes out over the wires from every convention. But a certain line of talk has appeared this time under the names of some anti-Republican writers that deserves special note. They say that this Republican Convention was dull, cut and dried, and heavy with defeatism.

It is true that this convention had none of the surprise that characterized the Republican Convention in Philadelphia in 1940, nor the brawling that the Democrats revealed in 1924 in New York, nor the intense moment when California and Texas gave Roosevelt the nomination in 1932.

When it is pretty certain that a candidate has it cinched in advance the show disappoints seekers of thrills. But the quiet deliberation that takes place is good for the party and for the country. Some element of intelligence and judgment goes into the decisions that are made and a better campaign is the result. After all a convention is not held for purposes of entertainment. And pure excitement breeds corrupt deals, bitter feelings and foolish actions.

THERE'S A WAR ON—

Those who were disappointed at the lack of theatre in this convention forget that a war is going on. The wonder is not that the convention lacks the holiday element but that there is a convention at all. No other combatant nation in this war even stops for an election. And it is also forgotten that when the preparations were made for this convention it was anticipated that the great invasion might be an overshadowing competitor for attention. In any event every responsible person connected with the preparations including those who were to make speeches were convinced that only a somber, reverent nonpartisan tone would be appropriate for the fearful background of the moment. Governor Warren and former President Hoover had that very much in mind.

Another factor that made the convention very much in the tradition of popular government is that no bosses and no advertising campaign put over the successful candidate. There were no vast barrages of telegrams or anxious telephonings. The reason that Dewey attracted such support is that wherever the people had a chance to express themselves they showed overwhelming preference for the man in Albany. It is reported that when someone asked Mr. Pew of Pennsylvania what the leaders of his state were going to do he answered that the people had given the leaders no option. Imagine that being said by the cynical Penrose in 1912. Here at long last is a nomination made without deals.

—NEW GENERATION—

The platform is excessively long but it is an honest effort honestly arrived at to meet the issues ahead of us.

The finest note of the convention was sounded by Mr. Hoover when he said: "Older men declare war. But it is youth that must fight and die. And it is youth who must inherit the tribulation, the sorrow, and the triumphs that are the aftermath of war . . . The convention is handing the leadership of the Republican party to a new generation."

Nothing more generous, more dignified and more appropriate was ever said by an old statesman to a young one. Those words were spoken to a young man named Dewey.

WHAT ARE WE COMING TO?

Taboos are based on superstitions; superstitions are irrational, and result from wrong beliefs. The taboo against the end-of-sentence preposition is as falsely conceived as is the popular but erroneous notion that "Don't feel badly about it" is irreproachable English.

On an average of once a year I exhort, cajole, entreat, expound, affirm, assert, declare, declaim, and otherwise emphasize: "It is NOT a crime to end a sentence with a preposition." The end-of-sentence preposition is not only in accordance with the genius of the English language, it is often a most desirable construction. I have never seen a reputable textbook, dictionary, or grammar that advises against such entirely natural expressions as: What are you hinting at? Whom were you looking for? It is nothing to worry about. This practice must be frowned upon.

As I pointed out once before, Ernest Weekley, in "Cruelty to Words," states: "The construction (preposition at the end of sentence) is really one of those practical concessions which help to make English the most expressive language. If we are to abolish 'What are you looking for?' 'The people I was dining with,' 'The business I was engaged in,' 'Nothing to talk home about,' etc., we shall have to talk a much stiffer language than the one we are accustomed to!"

However, there is one exception: After "where" either "to" or "at" is redundant. Suggestion for teachers: In explaining the incorrectness of "Where is it at?" "Where are you going to?" emphasize the redundancy rather than the preposition; else students may get the wrong idea that all end-of-sentence prepositions are naughty little things to be avoided in any event.

For my 2000-word History of the American Language, send a stamped (3c), self-addressed envelope to Frank Colby, in care of this paper.

Good Morning!

"TERNIN" IT OFF—The longstanding feud between Escanaba yachtsmen and arctic terns nesting at Sand Island at the Escanaba yacht harbor finally came to a head last spring.

The terns are those cute little black and white birds (mostly white) with sharply pointed wings and dive-bomber instincts. Of course you know what a yachtsman is: A man works at polishing his boat for 10 months of the year to go sailing for two months.

A hydrant has no greater attraction for a dog than a boat has for a tern. The birds delight in circling over the boats at dock or anchor in the yacht basin, squawking loudly occasionally to see if one of the sailors will be foolish enough to look up. Sometimes they do.

Also, terns like to alight atop the masts of the boats and sit and think. This makes the mariners angry. So they have taken to driving a nail in the top of the mast, then filling off the nail head to a sharp point. This has a tendency to discourage the tern from roosting.

Besides their tendency to get chummy with the yachtsmen, the terns set up a convivial din during the mating and nesting season. Sand Island becomes a bedlam of sound, of fluttering wings. As the terns laid eggs in crude nests on the island, yachtsmen working on their boats in the harbor thought of ways to drive them elsewhere. Trips to the island to disturb the nesting terns were of little avail, and the sailormen at last hoping for a typhoon or some other cataclysm of nature which will wipe the terns off the face of the local scene.

POLITICAL REPORTING

With the Republican national convention attracting such a screwball reporter as Gracie Allen, it is to be hoped that Bob Hope will visit the Democrats when they gather in Chicago. Gracie's quips and wisecracks are recommended. Her antics effect the war-weary system like a dish of rhubarb after a long winter.

The national inclination this year is to look upon politics as a necessary evil in wartime, and to get as much humor out of the situation as possible. This will not detract from the serious business of selecting the next president of the United States, but it will have a tonic effect on the national body.

EXPLOSIVES GIRL — There's dynamite in this, but the Bugler believes you should know about the young woman who has authority to tell you whether you can or cannot have the explosives you need to clear land, build roads or blast your mother-in-law out of your home.

She is Miss Mary Constantineau, Delta county deputy clerk, who was appointed explosives licensing agent for the county effective January 1, 1943, by the U. S. Department of the Interior, bureau of mines. Her appointment will continue effective until the close of the war.

You see, the federal government decided it was necessary, for national safety, to control the distribution of explosives. So licensing agents were named for each county. These agents issue licenses to vendors, approve applications to purchase explosives, and issue license to foremen in charge of crews using explosives.

So far Miss Constantineau has issued 76 licenses. The largest number was in May, 1943, and the majority of applicants are farmers and lumbermen. Among the more unusual uses was by the Delta Chemical & Iron company,

INTO THE PAST

10 Years Ago—1934

Major Floyd Evans, director of the state board of aeronautics, is expected to arrive in Escanaba by plane today to inspect two airport development projects now under way in the county.

Miss Helen Shipley of Escanaba became the bride of William Tharpe of Grand Rapids at a ceremony performed Tuesday at Hancock.

Recent entries in the fishing contest include a great northern pike caught in the Escanaba river by Wilfred Chartrand of Escanaba that weighed seven pounds dressed; and a four pound bass caught by Mrs. Hazel Asselin.

20 Years Ago—1924

Miss Edith Crowell Thomas and Herbert Kingsley Peterson were married Saturday evening at a simple ceremony at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Thomas.

Mrs. A. S. Putnam left Escanaba Friday evening for Chicago where she will embark on a six-weeks' vacation tour of the west. The Escanaba municipal band has received its new uniforms and will appear in them for the first time at a concert to be presented at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Ludington Park. The uniforms are blue trimmed with black braid.

25 Years Ago—1919

Escanaba is sponsoring a Fourth of July celebration which is expected to attract thousands of Delta county visitors. All returned soldiers, sailors and marines will be invited to participate in the festivities and join the parade.

Escanaba Elks yesterday began raising funds to aid the establishment of a Salvation Army home service center. The quota for the city in the drive is $5,000.

Washington—President Wilson has advised that he will lack authority to repeal the wartime prohibition order until all soldiers have been mustered out of service. Refusal of the president indicates the wartime law will close the doors of every liquor establishment in the nation.

which needed dynamite for use in manufacturing chemicals.

ENROLL THEM — Those kids of yours should be enrolled in the swimming instruction class at Ludington Beach, a daily instruction period that starts at 10 a. m. Most important reason for teaching a child to swim is that it will assure saving his life if he should ever find himself in water more than neck deep.

Other reasons: He (or she) will have better health, a stronger body, gain assurance and courage, and may sometime, because of his training in swimming, save the life of another person. The lessons are free.

UP AND DOWN — Township supervisors from Delta county are wondering, now the figures are out, why they took so much trouble with their assessment rolls last spring. For the assessed valuation in Wells township went down instead of up—went down over $200,000. This was enough to almost eliminate the total increases made by the other townships.

What seems peculiar to the supervisors in the 13 townships that increased valuations is that Supervisor O. J. Thorsen, chairman of Delta county board, had urged them to increase valuations. They can't understand why Supervisor Thorsen didn't follow the advice he gave them.

At a meeting of the county tax allocation committee, when it was in a boiling mood over the low valuations that brought insufficient revenue to meet county and school budget needs, Supervisor Thorsen expressed confidence that the total assessed valuation in the county would go to $17,000,000.

Apparently Supervisor Thorsen's confidence didn't extend to the assessment rolls in his own township.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Chicago—Although Dewey forces guarded the secret closely, they were so confident of victory in Chicago that they completed a detailed blueprint of the New York Governor's entire political program for the summer and fall well before the convention convened.

Here's the strategy drawn up for the go-getting mustachioed gentleman from Albany: — Spend the bulk of the summer in Albany preparing a series of six major addresses in which he will state his position on all questions. In these Dewey will assume the role he likes best, that of the people's district attorney, and will put the Roosevelt Administration on trial.

Dewey and Herbert Brownell, his personal campaign manager, have ruled out the traditional campaign train with its stumping of the country from end to end, visiting small towns and greeting the folks on their doorsteps. They point out that the country is so large, the candidate wears himself out trying to see and greet everyone, and ends up as Wendell Willkie did, meeting only a fraction of the folks.

Important Republican politicians will have a chance to see Dewey this summer, but many will trek to Albany for the opportunity. This does not mean Dewey will do no traveling. He plans to deliver his six speeches in carefully spotted cities around the country.

One major speech will take place in Michigan, another in California, a third in Minnesota, a fourth either in pivotal Kentucky or Tennessee. The last major speech will probably be delivered in New York City. On all these trips, Dewey will make a few back-platform appearances but, unlike Willkie's patient, plodding tours through the country, he will make no great circle swings of four or five weeks' duration.

—UNHAPPY LABOR—

A. F. of L.'s bulky Bill Green was a mighty disappointed man when he got a look at the Republican convention's committee on labor. Green, who has been a bit cool on the Roosevelt family, had looked forward to a liberal GOP convention where he and his labor buddies could throw their weight around.

However, Green got the surprise of his life when he walked into the committee room and found Senator Albert Hawkes of New Jersey, former vice president of the labor-baiting National Association of Manufacturers, dominating the labor committee. Bill Hutchison, president of the powerful A. F. of L. carpenter's union and perennial chairman of GOP labor committees, tried to make things pleasant for Green, but the anti-union sentiments of the members got under Green's skin.

Emerging from the meeting, perspiring and unhappy, Green told intimates: "No matter what these fellows do or say, labor's going to be 80 percent for Roosevelt in November. Imagine having an ex-official of the National Association of Manufacturers sitting on the labor committee!"

—LANDON'S DOMESTIC PROBLEM—

Wives of some of the most prominent politicians from all over the U. S. A. pitched in at the convention to make beds and answer telephones because of the acute Chicago hotel labor shortage. However, Mrs. Alf Landon was less worried about the help shortage than her youngsters are at home.

A few weeks ago, in Topeka, the children of the GOP 1936 Presidential nominee said they wanted to see an exhibition of aerial bombing which the Army was putting on to promote the sale of war bonds.

"If it's going to be dangerous to watch," the ex-Governor of Kansas said, "then we shouldn't go. If it's not dangerous, it won't be worth seeing."

"I don't care if it is dangerous, I want to see it," chimed in Landon's cute freckled-faced daughter, Nancy Joe.

But Mrs. Landon said that she was tired of all this war stuff.

"I want to live to see the day when we are finished with all this mess," she said. To which Landon's young son Jackie replied: "I want to live to see the day when we get a maid so I won't have to do the dishes."

—BYRD FOR V. P.—

Inside story on that brief "Byrd for Vice President on the GOP ticket" boomlet, which momentarily stumped the convention, is that it was planted by New York Democrat John J. O'Connor, who was purked by FDR and is now a bitter leader of the anti-fourth-term drive in the Democratic party. O'Connor met last week with Republican leaders in Chicago to help the GOP crack the Solid South.

Harrison Spangler and Congressman Harold Knutson of Minnesota thought that a Byrd boor, by the Republicans would help convince Southern Democrats that the GOP is a lot closer to them spiritually than they realize. So O'Connor had some key Republicans tell the story to Joe Martin, minority leader of the House.

Martin agreed to the scheme. A Washington correspondent was tipped off to ask Martin how he would go for a Dewey-Byrd ticket, and Martin allowed as how he thought it would be fine. This set the ball rolling and the wires hummed to Chicago with the story.

However, Dewey advisers Ed Jaecle and Russ Sprague turned emphatic thumbs down.

"If the Republican party, with twenty-six fine Republican Governors and a host of members in the Senate and House, has to go into the opposition camp for its Vice Presidential candidate, then we'd better throw in the sponge right now," Jaecle said.

night attacks. When this special fellow was brought in he protested in rage.

"You Americans! The way you fight! This is not war! This is madness!"

The German was so outraged he never even got the irony of his own remarks—that madness though it be, it works.

Another high-ranking officer was brought in and the first thing he asked was the whereabouts of his personal orderly. When told that his orderly was dead, he was driving west. Carpenter's car sheared off 13 fence posts and plowed 195 feet along the ditch. Other passengers in the car were not injured.

"Who's going to dig my foxhole for me?" He demanded.

You remember that in the early days of the invasion a whole bevy of high-ranking Allied officers came to visit us—Generals Marshall, Eisenhower and Arnold, Admirals King and Ramsey—there was so much brass you just bumped two-star generals without even begging pardon.

Now generals, it seems, like to be brave. Or I should say that, being generals, they know they must appear to be brave in order to set an example. Consequently, a high-ranking general never ducks or bats an eye when a shell hits near him.

Well, the military police charged with conducting this glittering array of generals around our Beachhead tried to get them to ride in armored cars, since the country was still full of snipers.

But, being generals, they said no, certainly not, no armored cars for us, we'll just go in open command cars like anybody else. And that's the way they did go.

But what the generals didn't know was this: taking no chances on such a collection of talent, the M. P.'s hid armored cars and tanks all along their route, behind hedges and under bushes, out of sight so that the generals couldn't see them, but there ready for action just in case anything did happen.

The most wrecked town I have seen so far is Saint Sauveur Le Vicomte, known simply as "San Sau-Vure." Its buildings are gutted and leaning, its streets choked with rubble, and vehicles drive over the top of it.

Bombing and shellfire from both sides did it. The place looks exactly like world war I pictures of such places as Verdun. At the edge of the town the bomb craters are so immense that you could put whole houses in them.

A veterans of the last war pretty well summed up the two wars the other day when he said: "This is just like the last war, only the holes are bigger."

So far as I know, we have entered France without anybody making a historic remark about it. Last time, you know, it was "Lafayette, we are here."

The nearest I have heard to a historic remark was made by an ack-ack gunner, sitting on a mound of earth about two weeks after D-Day, reading the Stars and Stripes from London. All of a sudden he said:

"Say, where's this Normandy Beachhead it talks about in here?"

I looked at him closely and saw that he was serious, so I said: "Why, you're sitting on it."

And he said: "Well, I'll be damned. I never knewed that."

LET CONTRACTS
FOR WAREHOUSEDelta Hardware Building
Work Awarded Three Local Firms

The Delta Hardware company of Escanaba has awarded contracts to three local firms for the construction of a warehouse at the rear of the company's present building in the 400 block, Ludington street, it was announced yesterday by W. J. Smith, vice president and manager.

Contract for the construction of the warehouse building was awarded to A. M. Arntzen; plumbing contract to Clement Puissant; and wiring to the Nantell Electric company, all of Escanaba. Bids were opened by the company last Friday.

Arntzen is expected to start work on the building Monday, and it is expected that all of the work will be completed before cold weather next fall.

The building will be approximately 300 feet long and 120 feet wide, and will be one story high. Sidelights will be of brick, and construction will otherwise be of concrete and steel. The War Production Board had approved the construction of the building at a cost not to exceed $60,000.

The warehouse will be served by a siding of the Chicago & North Western railroad, and one end of the building will have a higher section to permit entrance of box cars. Here the cars can be unloaded inside, where the main

90 DAY LIMIT BEING WAIVED

Draft Registrants May Be Called For Induction In July

Draft registrants who submitted to preinduction examinations more than 90 days ago and who were found acceptable for either the army or navy service may be included in the induction call for July 11 from Delta county, the local draft board reported yesterday.

Such registrants will be re-examined at the induction station and if found still acceptable for service, they will be inducted into the army or the navy, depending upon the needs of the services at that time. They will not necessarily be assigned to military service upon the basis of their designation in either the army or navy pool, however.

Several registrants sent for induction in June whose preinductions were made in excess of 90 days were returned to Delta county by the induction station officials. The local board, however, has since been notified to send these men back for induction in July.

No call for preinduction examination in July has yet been received by the Delta county draft board, resulting in speculation whether a preinduction call will be received for the month. There is a possibility, however, that the Marquette induction center will be eliminated and registrants called for preinduction examinations from the upper peninsula sent directly to Milwaukee for examination.

In such event, the registrants will be returned to their homes for a minimum of 21 days before called for induction.

Plan Termination Of War Contracts School On July 6

On July 7 the Green Bay Association of Commerce will act as host to a jointly sponsored Chamber of Commerce and Smaller War Plants Corporation one-day school on the vital problem of war contract termination.

The school will be held in the Beaumont hotel, Green Bay. The morning session will start at 9 o'clock. There will be no lunch.

This all-day session will be of value to executives, auditors, accountants, attorneys, bankers and others representing small and large firms, including both prime and subcontractors. Any organization that may become involved at any future date with termination problems should be represented, especially by those executives who will handle termination matters.

The conference leaders will consist of officers from the various branches of the armed services who are in charge of contract termination.

Maury Maverick, chairman of the board of directors of Smaller War Plants Corporation and a member of the joint contract termination board and surplus war property policy board, stated "I fully realize that we are not relaxing our efforts connected with war procurement one bit, but the time is approaching when war production will taper off and the country will commence to readjust itself to peacetime conditions. SWPC will shoulder its full responsibility in protecting and assisting small business during this difficult period."

Trainmen Ask For Toilet Facilities

F. N. Pierce, director of the railroad division of the Michigan Public Service commission, yesterday in a hearing at the courthouse in Escanaba heard counsel for the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen ask that the C. & N. W. railroad provide washroom and toilet facilities for trainmen at Stambaugh and Antoine.

The complaint by the trainmen is that facilities are either absent or inadequate for all the employees.

James E. Frost, Escanaba attorney, represented the railroad company at the hearing. The railroad company is ready and willing to provide the facilities when they are available, he said.

NAVY STATION TO CLOSE HERE

Recruiters Being Transferred; Requirements Reduced

The naval recruiting station in Escanaba will be discontinued on Saturday, July 8, and recruiting officers now stationed here will be transferred to other areas, it has been announced.

H. W. Edgerly, chief machinist's mate, recruiter in charge of the Escanaba station, is being transferred to Marquette, where he will be in charge of navy recruiting throughout the upper peninsula. Roy Anderson, specialist, first class, who has been stationed at Escanaba with Edgerly, is being transferred to the main recruiting station at Milwaukee, effective July 10.

Charles W. Graham, chief quartermaster, who has been recruiter in charge at Marquette, is being transferred to Milwaukee and F. N. Zicklerick, specialist, first class, who also has been at Marquette, is being transferred to Wausau, Wisconsin, where he will be recruiter in charge of the Wausau station.

Lt. Commander Gerald S. Ellick, who is commander of the Milwaukee recruiting station, was in Escanaba Wednesday making his regular inspection visit of the Escanaba recruiting office.

The Escanaba station was opened on Aug. 1, 1941. A traveling recruiter will visit Escanaba once or twice a month in the future. Chief Edgerly reported yesterday. Reduced requirements for naval personnel has been given as the reason for closing the Escanaba station. Several stations also are being closed in Wisconsin.

The recruiting service in the upper peninsula is now being operated on a quota basis. It is anticipated that the July quota will be relatively small.

All records of applications for enlistment now on file in the Escanaba office will be removed to Marquette, Edgerly said, and applicants will be called to service as rapidly as quotas permit.

Enlistments are confined to 17 year olds and men over the age of 35.

S. N. Bradford At Nat'l Scout School

S. N. Bradford, Scout executive for Red Buck council, has left for the Boy Scout National Training school in New Jersey where he will spend a month.

The training school is located on the Mortimer L. Schiff reservation where the Boy Scouts of America maintain a large camp for the training of their executives.

It is at this camp that all persons who enter scouting professionally and all scout executives are trained.

Bradford came to the Red Buck council from Colfax, Wis., where for years he served as a scoutmaster.

He anticipates returning to Escanaba by July 27, which will allow him to attend the final week of the annual Red Buck camp at Red Jack Lake.

Norman Roland
Has Played 25
Operatic Roles

A baritone, who knows and has appeared in twenty-five operatic roles, sings the role of Lieutenant Governor Grandet in Victor Herbert's "Naughty Marietta," which will be presented by the American Civic Opera company at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium, Thursday evening, July 6, under the sponsorship of Town Hall.

He is Norman Roland, a native of Toronto, and a graduate of the University of Toronto. He went to England and coached with Reinhold Von Warlich, the famous Lieder interpreter, and upon his return to America was engaged to sing with a Gilbert and Sullivan company under the musical direction of Reginald Stewart. He played for long seasons at the Pasadena Community Playhouse, sang with the Cincinnati Summer Opera company and toured in Central America.

In 1929 he was featured with Vivienne Segal and Dennis King in a tour of "I Married an Angel." "Naughty-Marietta" is under the direction of Reed Lawton and Tord Benner, family Swedish conductor, is musical director of the light opera.

Tickets for the production are selling rapidly, members of the committee report. There will be no reserved seats.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of
A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-283: Sarah O., aged 17, is a high school senior. "I'm so unhappy I wish I could die," she said as the tears began to flow. "Just look at these awful pimples on my face."

"I've tried everything I know to get a good complexion, but nothing has worked."

"Naturally, I have no friends and never had a date. What's the use of living, anyway, if you can't have dates?"

Diagnosis

You young people must quit being so cowardly that you think life is futile unless you can have social popularity and a sweetheart.

Romance is beautiful and a happy marriage is probably the highest accomplishment of the human ingenuity, but there are many other delights in life.

Look at the lovely unmarried women who have devoted their lives to nursing or music or teaching other women's children. Think of the helpfulness of women missionaries and the beautiful deeds of the Catholic Sisters.

Snap out of your petty selfishness, therefore, and use some horse sense. If you cannot have 100 per cent of the joys that life might offer a human being, at least be grateful for the 90 per cent or 80 per cent or even 50 per cent that come your way.

Your Philosophy of Life

Until you develop a sound philosophy of life and recognize the multitude of joys that God placed within the grasp of everybody who is courageous and not afraid of hard work, you will always be a weeper and a coward.

No man can long admire and love a cowardly female who is so juvenile she thinks life isn't worth living without a boy friend.

Such women, moreover, are like Sir Galahad in his early questing for the Holy Grail. Not until he forgot his search and lost himself in unselfish devotion to others, did he find his Holy Grail, for happiness is a by-product, not an end in itself.

LEADING ROLE—Norman Roland, baritone, plays the role of Lieutenant Governor Grandet in Victor Herbert's "Naughty Marietta," which will be presented by the American Civic Opera Company the evening of July 6, at William W. Oliver Memorial Auditorium.

end in itself.

So, too, a woman who worships solely at the shrine of a boy friend, or anything that wears pants, is very likely to win nothing but the cuffs, if she can even rate one of those.

A truly popular woman must be sufficiently selfless renounce an attractive boy who refuses to live according to the proper rules of human conduct.

Even though her heart may temporarily feel like breaking, she should follow the motto of the old song, "Laugh, Clown, Laugh."

Pimples and Acne

Millions of men and women are embarrassed about skin eruptions or acne. They grow self-conscious and shy. They usually overmagnify their defects, as is typical of human beings who feel below human par.

But they must realize that even if they eliminated their pimples and develop a beautiful skin, that fact alone will not make them popular or win them sweethearts. Many American youths are thus idolatrous, actually worshipping at the shrine of a much desired perfect complexion.

If you cannot win friends while possessed of acne, then you likewise have only a slim chance if your skin clears up, for a real friendship is thicker than your epidermis.

But it is quite desirable to clear up the skin. To do so, keep your bowels open. Reduce your pastry input. Lather your face with non-irritating soap and steam it at night for 15 minutes, as a barber does before shaving his customer.

Purchase a metal blackhead remover at the drug store. Use it after the steaming. Then slap on ice water. For further advice, send for my bulletin "The Psychology and Medicine of the Face," enclosing a 3c stamped envelope, plus a dime. Follow instructions faithfully for at least six weeks.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Revolta's 134 Gives His Four some Three Titles in Victor Golf

NATION'S BEST SEEKING TITLE

Hand-Picked Field Will Tee Off In National Tournament

BY CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Chicago, June 29. (AP)—Swarthy Johnny Revolta of Evanston, Ill., the Texas open winner last February, duplicated a four-under-par 67 round today for a 26-hole total of 134 which gave him four some of the four team titles in the Chicago victory national golf matches.

Adding to the surge was Marine Lieut. Patty Berg's 74, women's par on the Edgewater course, coupled with her 79 in yesterday's first round, the little Minneapolis champion posted a 153 aggregate. Her 153 and Revolta's 134 took the pro-woman pennant with 287.

Another of Revolta's partners, George Hardy of Evanston, linked 77-78—155, which, added to Revolta's score, clicked for the pro-victory title with 289. Amateur Ken Morine of Chicago completed the foursome and contributed 78-78—153. The complete team aggregate was 595—lowest among the 40 mixed teams competing.

The fourth title in the hodge-podge was the pro-amateur, by Ky Laffoon and Steve Kovach, Pittsburgh, Pa., steelworker, taking the honor with a combined 282. Laffoon donated 68-69—137, and Steve clipped in with 72-73—145.

Other top combinations: Pro-amateur: Craig Wood, 71-72—143, and Chuck Koels of Detroit, 73-68—141, for 284; Sam Byrd, 70-71—142, and Bob Cochran of St. Louis, 68-75—143, for 285; Gene Sarazen, 73-69—142,

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The new pastor of the First Methodist church in Escanaba, Rev. Otto Steen, is a classy ski jumper who learned the sport in his native Norway and has maintained an active interest through the years. At Manitowish, his first upper peninsula pastorate, Rev. Steen helped to organize the winter sports club in that community and was its most active member. He was personally responsible for the construction of the ski slide in that community and did much of the work himself. Even before the sports club constructed the ski slide, Steen built a small slide near his home "just for the fun of it" and spent many happy hours on the waxed slats.

Rev. Steen's parents resided in Larvik, Norway, a small community located on the western entrance to the Oslo fjord. A sister resides in Staveren, in western Norway, which the Nazis have turned into a mammoth air base. A brother-in-law who was a professor at a Norwegian College when the Nazis moved in and took over the country was thrown into a concentration camp when he refused to teach Nazi doctrines. He died in that concentration camp within a year after the German occupation.

Next time your fishing rod bends nearly in two with the strike of a big fellow and you think you have a record fish, you may compare your catch with these official records accepted by the American Museum of Natural History and the International Game Fish Association: large mouth bass, 22 lbs., 4 ounces; muskellunge, 62 lbs., 8 oz.; white perch, 4 lbs., 9 oz.; yellow perch, 4 lbs., 3 1/2 oz.; pickerel, 10 lbs., 10 oz.; northern pike, 46 lbs., 2 oz.; Atlantic salmon, 79.5 lbs.; Pacific salmon, 83 lbs.; brook trout, 12-12 lbs.; brown trout, 39 1/2 lbs.; cut throat trout, 41 lbs.; lake trout, 63 lbs.; rainbow trout, 26 1/2 lbs.; steelhead trout, 29 lbs.; wall eyed pike, 22 lbs., 4 oz.

The St. Louis Browns are leading the American league but their attendance at home has not met expectations, which gives rise once more to the rumor that the Browns will be looking for brighter pastures. The first 31 games drew only 25,000 above last year, which was not a particularly good season at the gate when the team finished in sixth place. Don Barnes, president of the Browns, was considering moving his franchise to Los Angeles but the war eliminated this possibility for the present.

and Ed Furgol of Detroit, 73-71—144, for 286.

Pro-woman: Jug McSpaden, 64-70—134, and Dorothy Germain of Philadelphia, 77-82—159, for 293; Lieut. Ben Hogan, 67-70—137, and Babe Didrikson Zaharias, 157, for 294; Mrs. Albert Becker, Englewood, N. J., 80-83—163; Ann Casey, Mason City, Iowa, 85-79—164.

Pro-senior: McSpaden, 134, and Arnold Minkley of Chicago, 75-85—160, for 294; Jim Foulis of Chicago, 70-67—137, and J. D. Harris of Chicago, 78-82—160, for 297; and Laffoon, 137, and Walter Olson of Chicago, 82-80—162, for 299.

Individual leaders: Pros: Revolta, 134; McSpaden, 134; Byron Nelson, 68-67—135.

Amateurs: Kocsis, 141; Cochran, 143; Furgol, 144.

The 72-hole tournament for the Chicago victory national championship will begin tomorrow with a field of 67 hand-picked pros and amateurs competing.

TIGERS BLANK SENATORS, 4-0

Newhouse's Two-Hitter Ends 5-Game Losing Streak

Washington, June 29 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers shut out Washington 4 to 0 tonight behind the two-hit pitching of Hal Newhouse, snapping a five-game losing streak. Another defeat would have dropped the Detroit club into the cellar along with Cleveland.

A crowd estimated at 7,500 saw the second game of a series which ends tomorrow night. From here the Tigers go to Philadelphia for a single game Saturday and a doubleheader Sunday.

Tonight's game was scoreless until the eighth, when Big Rudy York opened with a home run into the leftfield bleachers. The Tigers fashioned another counter in that stanza on Jack Sullivan's wide throw, which permitted Roger Cramer to reach first safely, and a two-bagger by Joe Oringo with two away which scored him.

The Tigers bunched four of the eight hits yielded them by Washington's Early Wynn in the ninth for the remaining brace of tallies. Jimmy Outlaw led off the inning with a single to left. Pinky Higgins sacrificed him to second and he scored on a single by Eddie Mayo, who went to second on the Tiger beat.

York beat out a hit to Torres, advancing Mayo to third, where he was caught off base and trapped by Torres and Ferrel while York reached second on the play. Cramer singled York home, but was out trying to stretch his hit into a double.

Newhouse struck out nine Senators and didn't issue a single walk in carrying out his eleventh pitching victory of the season. Both of the hits he yielded were singles.

York's circuit clout, his eighth of the year, was his second hit of the evening.

The victory was Detroit's seventh in nine starts against the Washington club.

WELL KNOWN BARBER DIES

James V. Anzalone, 48, Was Ill Past Five Months

James V. Anzalone, 48, well known Escanaba barber, died at four o'clock Thursday morning at his home, 1317 First avenue south. He had been in poor health, suffering from a heart ailment, for the past five months.

Mr. Anzalone, who operated the Delta barber shop at 606 Ludington street, was born in the Isle of Pantelleria, near Sicily, on June 5, 1896, and the family lived in Tunis and Sicily before coming to the United States to settle in Chicago.

His marriage to Nona Carr took place in Chicago in 1916, and they came to Escanaba to make their home shortly after the wedding.

Surviving Mr. Anzalone, who was popularly known as "Jimmy," to friends and acquaintances throughout the community, are his wife, one daughter, Mrs. Leonard E. Kell, the former Agnes Anzalone, of Chicago; three sons, all of whom are in the service, Sgt. John Anzalone and First Lt. James Anzalone, both in England, and Pte. Gerald Anzalone, of Fort Knox, Ky.; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Anzalone of Chicago; four brothers, Charles, John, Frank and Adam, of Chicago; and one sister, Mrs. Rose Alongi, Chicago.

The body was taken to the Degnan funeral home where it will be in state beginning at 3 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Funeral services will be held at a solemn requiem high mass at 9 o'clock Monday morning.

Found in Hawaii, a toy balloon was found to have been inflated with gas, marked, and released from a point in Pennsylvania.

Rubber Industry Makes Life Lines

Akron, Ohio (AP)—"Life Lines" that save men wounded on the world's battlefield are being manufactured at this nation's rubber center at the rate of hundreds of thousands of feet a month.

The lines are short—24 inches for those used in the Red Cross blood plasma donor's service, and 56 inches for those used in the field transfusions of the armed services.

The lines are translucent—which is an aid to cleanliness—and they can be sterilized and used repeatedly. They are manufactured from latex.
